

ORTHODOX VIEW

PASTOR THOMPSON OF WASHINGTON GIVES ORTHODOX VIEW OF HELL FIRE

LOS ANGELES, August 7.—That the orthodox view of hell fire and purgatory, as a lake of seething brimstone, in which the wicked are tormented forever, is a myth, and has no real existence except in the imagination, was the startling statement of Pastor George B. Thompson of Washington, D. C., secretary of the North American Division Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, in his discourse at the Adventist camp-ground at West Washington and Orchard streets, last night. Mr. Thompson told of the origin of the devil, as an angel in heaven, first perfect, but later rebellious against his Creator, and seeking to secure to himself the honors claimed by the Deity.

Strange as it may seem, Mr. Thompson said, war originated in heaven with the being who, next to Christ, the son of God, was most honored by the angelic host. He said:

"How did sin and death originate, and if God loves men, why was sin permitted? Why did God not kill the devil as soon as he sinned, and thus save all the pain, misery and death in the world? These questions are asked by thousands.

"Sin had its beginning in heaven, with Satan, a mighty being before the great white throne. Jealousy crept into the heart of Lucifer, and although honored next to Christ, he became dissatisfied, and sought the supremacy. He said, 'I am as beautiful as the Archangel himself. I am a good singer and leader of the heavenly choir. I fail to understand why Christ is given the supremacy.'

Battle Among Angels

"Little by little the heaven of discontent spread its baneful influence. Lucifer, the Light Bearer, became Satan, the Adversary. Insidiously he sowed the seed of suspicion among the angels. He told them a despotism was enthroned, that God was a tyrant, that angels needed neither law nor King.

"God endured the rebellion long and patiently. At last it became necessary to banish the devil and all his sympathizers from the presence of the Deity. 'There was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven. And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world; he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him,' as we read in Revelation 12: 7 to 9.

"God could, by a command, have blotted this wicked angel out of existence, with all his disloyal followers. But had this been done a question would have remained unanswered in the minds of the loyal angelic hosts. Inhabitants of myriad planets that swing in space had learned of Satan's accusations against Christ. With eager interest they watched the outcome.

"Bear in mind, my friends, that the universe never had seen sin. None but the Creator realized its awfulness. Heavenly intelligences had not witnessed its fruits. Had the Creator withdrawn Satan's life, the inhabitants of myriad worlds afar would have said: 'Lucifer told us God was domineering. This seems to be evidence of it.' It was an all-wise God who permitted Satan to work out his plans. Sin is the transgression of God's law, and Satan is the father of sin.

God Foresaw Rebellion

"God did not create sin, but he foresaw its existence. In the councils of eternity he planned to meet the terrible emergency. With Christ, His Son, He arranged that if sin should enter the world the Son would die on the cross to meet the claims of the law. God had an eternal purpose in view. Sin did not take God by surprise. Satan saw the Father and Son in council, and wondered why he was not invited to take part in the plans. How could he, when he was the subject under discussion?

"In due time, and in fulfillment of the prophecies, the Saviour was born into our world by the power of the Holy Spirit. He was taken by wicked hands under satanic influence and crucified and slain. Then the universe saw sin's fruits. From that hour to this there has been no sympathy in heaven for the fallen angels.

RED CROSS MEETING

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF RED CROSS HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING AT BRALY HOME

Another well attended meeting of the Executive Committee of the Glendale Chapter, American Red Cross, was held last evening at the residence of the Chairman, Mr. J. H. Braly. In the routine business which was taken up it was announced that the present membership is 1115, an encouraging figure, indeed.

Mrs. W. E. Evans, Chairman of Hospital Supplies said that 25 ladies sewed last Thursday and that much is being accomplished in her special department. She particularly mentioned Mrs. M. L. Field of Everett street, as having attended every sewing meeting and completed each day the garment she began—a splendid record.

Mrs. A. M. Beamon, Chairman of Comfort Bags reported 144 of these articles completed and filled, of which 51 have been handed to soldiers within the past few days. She also announced several donations given to her which will be acknowledged publicly by the Secretary elsewhere. A special vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Beamon and the committee responsible for the splendid reception to the enlisted men which was given at their home last Thursday evening. The whole affair was passed in review by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett who stated that the expense to the Chapter was just ninety-five cents.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower, Chairman of Entertainment, then spoke of the Military Dance held last Saturday, and reported a net income of $21.58, which has been handed over to the Secretary. A vote of thanks to Miss Frank for her service in this connection was passed unanimously. The Doctor also made some suggestions as to future plans for raising funds. Mr. H. H. Faries came with an idea which will likely be made into reality next full moon, and about which more will appear later. Suffice it to say that the scheme is pleasant to anticipate, practical to consummate and likely to be profitable to operate. This will be "put over" by Messrs. Faries and Harrower in due course.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Chairman of Purchasing, told of having spent $112.45 last week for needed supplies; and it occurs to the writer that if it is necessary to spend money in such chunks we will have to get it in larger amounts than heretofore, for the wherewithal with which to keep the many workers busy is indeed most essential.

Mrs. George D. Carter, Chairman of Knitting, gave a splendid report. She now has no less than eighty-three ladies at work with their needles and 12 young ladies taking a course of instruction so that they can "do a bit" in this line also.

Mrs. John Robert White was unanimously elected Chairman of Refreshments and accepted her new burden without a murmur. This was the more remarkable because she well knows what a big job this is likely to be. Mr. McCrea moved that the forthcoming Corner-stone Laying Celebration to be held in connection with the building of the Elk's Club House on Colorado street next Saturday be made an opportunity to initiate Mrs. White into the real activities of her service, and she will see to it that refreshments are available for the thousands of Elks and their friends who are expecting to be in Glendale to celebrate with the proud members of the local order. It is expected to net a goodly sum from this; and Mrs. White will be glad to have offers of assistance and fruit (especially oranges and lemons) or fruit juice. Phone Home 1061.

Miss Ina Whitaker, Secretary of the Glendale Branch of the British Ambulance, came in person to thank the local Chapter for their unstinted assistance in connection with the Allies Fiesta, she also made some suggestions regarding future plans which were given careful consideration.

Mrs. E. M. Tuft, of 1421 Buchett street, was elected Chairman of Surgical Dressings, and will start at once to accomplish things. She came in her nurse's costume with the official Red Cross pin as a decoration. She looks as though she could make anything a success. She will start a class in the preparation of surgical dressings. Those desiring to join and help (and learn how) phone Mrs. Tuft, Glendale 485.

Dr. Harrower then moved that the Chair appoint a committee to be given full authority in regard to securing a permanent headquarters and Rev. T. F. McCrea and Dr. C. Irving Mills were selected to see to this. The Chapter needs a more permanent abiding place for their present quarters. (Continued on Page 3)

PEACE PROPOSALS WELCOME

ADMINISTRATION WILLING TO LISTEN TO SERIOUS PROPOSALS OF PEACE AT ANY TIME

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 7.—Although the United States would listen to serious, bona fide proposals of peace now or at any time, it will turn a deaf ear to the big peace proffer which is expected from Germany this fall. It will be only a made-in-Germany peace, officials believe, and an attempt by the Kaiser to appear victorious before his people.

FIGHTING ABOUT VERDUN

FRENCH REPULSE ATTACKS OF THE CROWN PRINCE WITH HEAVY LOSSES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, August 7.—Heavy fighting broke out in the Verdun sector following fierce bombardment by the forces of the Germans. The Crown Prince launched a strong attack against the French line on a 3-mile front on the left bank of the Meuse. The war office reports heavy German losses in the attack. French guns poured a heavy fire upon the attacking forces, which were driven back. Renewed activity was also reported in Belgium. In Champagne the French made successful raids, taking many prisoners.

GRAIN YIELD TO BE ONE OF THE LARGEST IN AMERICAN HISTORY ACCORDING TO CROP AUTHORITIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, August 7.—The crops of the country are safe. Nothing now can interfere with one of the largest grain yields in American history, except possibly early frost, which might damage the corn slightly. These statements were given by leading crop authorities.

VILLA ACTIVE AGAIN

ENEMY PLOT DISCOVERED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PITTSBURGH, August 7.—Enemy alien plans to secretly send a huge loving cup, the gift of pro-Germans in America, to the commander of the U-boat that sink the Lusitania, were exposed and balked by Federal authorities. Otto Post, the leader of the movement, was arrested.

LABOR SITUATION ALARMING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 7.—The labor situation is causing the government considerable alarm. War work is threatened to such an extent that a campaign has been started to dispel unrest among workers. The war, navy and labor departments have appointed a committee to study the adjustment of the wage scale in the navy yard. The high cost of living and a determination to share in war profits are responsible for the labor unrest.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

MRS. KENT GIVES RECEPTION IN HONOR OF MRS. CUNNINGHAM WHO GOES TO OREGON

Mrs. Roy L. Kent, 222 North Central avenue, entertained Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. C. H. Cunningham, who is leaving Glendale to join her husband in Oregon, where they will reside in the future.

The beautiful new home of Mrs. Kent was prettily decorated with fresh flowers and greenery. About forty guests, largely members of the First Baptist church and congregation, came to say farewell to Mrs. Cunningham, who has been the efficient choir leader of that church for the past three years.

Mrs. Cunningham has made a place for herself in Glendale in musical circles, especially, and her departure is much regretted by all. The afternoon was spent in games and music and light refreshments were served.

A very pleasing incident was the presentation of a beautiful silver sandwich tray by the ladies of the First Baptist church to Mrs. Cunningham. Mrs. Vernon T. Cowser, in presenting the gift, expressed their sincere regret that the parting of the ways had come and wished for her every good thing in her new home. Mrs. Cunningham responded feelingly to the ladies in accepting the beautiful gift. Mrs. Cunningham leaves Tuesday evening for her new home.

MISS ANNA MAY FLOWER

Miss Anna May Flower, who will leave Thursday to make her home in Long Beach, was the honored guest at a most charming affair given by Miss Evalyn Williams at her home, 305 East Colorado street on Monday afternoon. A patriotic color scheme was used, red, white and blue streamers being brought from the chandelier to the table which was centered by a beautiful bouquet of red, white and blue asters. Hand-painted place cards and artistic souvenir baskets of candy were at each guest's plate. Music, games and dancing were the amusements of the afternoon and later the guests attended the evening performance at the Palace Grand, chaperoned by Miss Leona McClain.

Those honoring Miss Flower were the Misses Evalyn Williams, Martha Meyers, Hazel Wilson, Virginia Brewster, Bertha Haig, Edna Farner, Helen Ingledue, Agnes Tupper.

WAR ENDS AUG. 28

So predicted the Irish Seer, St. Malachi, in a monastery, A. D. 1250.

He foretold, (or guessed, if you prefer,) the date the war would start and the time the Roumanians should join the allies. Thus far, his monkship hit it twice out of three.

But "the third time is the charm" so if the great unexpected should happen, and the war end August 28—in just 21 days—all will admit that though the ancient Hebrew prophet Malachi was one of the "lesser prophets," our friend St. Malachi of the Emerald Isle, should be enshrined in a class by himself—and be entitled to the gratitude of the world, including "the fierce beast" who started the fuss.

But speaking of prophecies, bear in mind one which, if true, will be the crowning unexpected from the popular point of view. "Aletheia," now of Pasadena, predicted, while Woodrow Wilson was President of Princeton College, that he would be the next President of these United States and that he would succeed himself. But, most wonderful of all, that same prophetic (or guessess) predicted that the successor of President Wilson will be the "Peace President."

Wm. Jennings Bryan, "What think ye?"

AMBULANCE SOCIETY

BRITISH AMBULANCE SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING. IMPORTANT BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED

The regular meeting of the Glendale branch was held yesterday afternoon in the headquarters at Broadway and Glendale avenue. It was one of the most successful and enjoyable meetings ever held by this society. Four or five new work tables were installed, having been made by Mr. Goss of Glendale, who donated all the work on same. There were two new members received and after the working session a short business meeting was held, the accounts of the Fiesta were read by the treasurer, Mrs. Harrower. Also a letter from Miss Whitaker expressing her appreciation of the splendid work done by the society on the Allies Fiesta, and her sincere and heartfelt thanks for personal kindness.

A vote of thanks was made to Mr. Goss for his work on the tables and after a little discussion it was decided by unanimous vote to send $200 to the Los Angeles headquarters to be forwarded to London and applied for direct use there in hospital supplies. This leaves a balance of over $200 to the society's account in the Bank of Glendale, which will immediately be put to use for improvements in our room and many working materials, etc.

At the close of the meeting the entire society accepted the very kind invitation of Mrs. Ginger and repaired to the charming rooms of "Ye Ginger Tavern" where delicious tea and sandwiches followed by home-made ice cream and cake were served to the ladies by the hostess. All those present expressed great pleasure and thanks for this gracious act of hospitality and arrangements have been made for the society to serve tea at Ye Ginger Tavern every Monday afternoon to the members free of charge and all visitors invited to take tea with us at a very moderate charge, thereby helping to earn a little money every week for the Ambulance work.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gillette of Des Moines, Iowa, have gone to California for an indefinite stay health hunting.

Hon. E. H. Gillette faithfully and ably represented the 7th District (including Des Moines) in the 46th Congress. He served with General James B. Weaver; Garfield and McKinley. We believe that Mr. Gillette is the only surviving member of the thirteen Greenbackers who held seats in this memorable session. His father was a legislator in Connecticut.

Isabel, the devoted wife, is related to many prominent Southern people, among whom are the Pickens of South Carolina. Mr. Gillette is the retiring president of the Pioneer Law Makers Association of Iowa. For years he was editor of the Iowa Tribune published in Des Moines, Iowa.

Edward and Isabel Gillette deserve all the honor that the good people of the golden state can bestow upon them.

DANCING PARTY

A very enjoyable dancing party was given by Mansford and Harriett Barnes at their home, 1303 North Brand Boulevard on Saturday evening. Expressing the well-known patriotism of this family, the house was tastefully decorated with the national colors.

Those enjoying this delightful party were the Misses Eleanor Gregg, Josie Gregg, Mary Logan, Martha Ray, Christine Ferriss, Harriett Barnes, Messrs. Merritt Brown, Roland Brown, John Bullard, of Los Angeles, Lewis Reid, Irving Westwood, Mansford Barnes and Russell Tummell.

MISS SPINK IMPROVING

Miss Aliene Spink, who was successfully operated on for appendicitis on Saturday at Thornycroft hospital continues to improve and conditions are favorable for her complete recovery. GONE

By Catherine Powers

His Panama hangs on the hall-rack, there's the ghost of his step on the stair,
And his room breathes so strong of his presence I find myself seeking him there.
And I say to his pictures, "He's left us." And I say to his books, "We're alone."
And my eyes fill with tears, and my heart's sick with fears,
But—we couldn't keep Jimmie at home.

It wasn't for honor or glory, it wasn't for love of the fray;
The war seemed a gray growing horror, coming nearer and nearer each day;
For the children of Europe were slaughtered, and Columbia, hearing their moan,
Sent a far-reaching call for Americans—ALL,
And—we couldn't keep Jimmie at home.

Who can judge of the limits of loving? Who can say of what loyalty's made?
And this feeling of man for his country, it's something the God of him gave.
It's bigger and finer than self is, upon it our ideals have grown;
It's American blend, and it's true to the end,
And—we wouldn't keep Jimmie at home.

So we're here with the ghost of his presence, and the pictures and books in his room,
And his Panama hangs on the hall-rack, and we say, "He'll be coming home soon."
And we're thinking thoughts in the night watches that thousands of others have known,
But we're proving we're fit, and we're doing our bit.
And—we didn't keep Jimmie at home.

PROTECTING DRIED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

In this article Uncle Sam goes into detail on ways you can protect your dried fruits and vegetables and tells you what dangers to look out for. There are two kinds of moths that will attack them. They are more likely to get into the fruit while they are drying than after they are packed away. This is particularly true of drying in the sun. One is the Indian meal moth. It is the most destructive of the two. It is about three-eighths of an inch long and has a cloaked appearance, one-third gray and the rest copper brown. The fig moth is about the same size but all dark neutral gray. Along with these usually comes a minute, flattened chocolate brown beetle. It does considerable damage. Their eggs hatch on the fruit in the form of whitish or pinkish grublike caterpillars. If these are stored away with the fruit they will propagate and produce thousands of their kind in the storage bins. Hence, pack your stuff in small boxes to prevent the moths spreading if there are any in a particular part of the product. Store in a cool, dry place. In sun drying, if the drying racks are screened early in the evening and at night, the cheese cloth or fly screen battened down and the dried fruits and vegetables stored in tight paper sacks in a cool place, no danger need ordinarily be feared from these insects. As an added precaution, the dried product may be heated, before being packed, to 140 F., long enough to allow the heat to penetrate throughout it. This will kill the eggs of the insects. If you do this, store it promptly, to prevent infestation.

DEFECTIVE GERMAN AIRCRAFT WARNING FOR AMERICA

There's a lesson to the United States not to make haste too precipitately, in recent air battles in Europe. The structural defects of German aircraft have been strongly illustrated of late. They were of machines hurriedly built as a result of Germany's "speeding up" of aeroplane construction. Now that America is going to hustle up and build great fleets of such craft she will do well to note some of the results of too much speed and not enough precaution.

In one week recently seven German planes were seen literally to break up in the air, the pilots and observers being hurled to the earth below. These accidents were unmistakably the result of faulty construction. Two other Prussian biplanes suddenly burst into flames in the view of British fighters—for no accountable reason.

Moreover, the new German planes are exceedingly vulnerable, probably due to faulty material and rush work. One British lieutenant the other day fired 40 rounds at 25 yards range—and broke the German's wings clear off. Another British fighter turned his machine gun fire at the tail of one of fifteen Prussian machines, from a distance of 60 yards. The Boche's tail slid clear off and the machine crashed to earth.

On the same day as this last incident, five British flyers attacked a fleet of Albatross scouts among the clouds. The fighters got separated shortly in the fleecy clouds and then it was every man for himself. One British captain, after driving off three Germans, hid in a cloud and awaited the fourth, whom he saw approaching. At the correct moment, the Britisher dived out, got below his enemy, and fired 58 shots. He broke the German plane completely in two.

On the following day a British airfighter, battling with nine planes, broke one into several pieces with a few shots, and then saw two other of his enemies burst into flames. One fell, like a comet, the second burned slowly. On this second one the pilot, unable to bear the agony of the fire, leaped out. The observer, left with a pilotless machine, crawled out along the fuselage, but fell off as the plane reared and plunged.

Once again, six British flyers attacked twelve enemy planes. One of the German machines burst into flames, one was crumpled by gunfire, and another just simply collapsed after 18 rounds of fire. The moral is that Americans will need the best machines and their best men against the Germans. Even then it would be foolhardy to expect a walkover.

Right now the German high command is grouping his flyers, aware of the British aerial supremacy,—just as a year ago he grouped artillery into traveling "circuses." The idea is that since the Germans are unable to maintain equality of the air everywhere along the front, they can concentrate a flying "circus" at some weak spot, or at some place in the line which is threatened.

THE VALUE OF SPACE

When a man begins the cultivation of a garden he is supposed to utilize every foot of ground in such a way that it will bring the very best returns. When a publisher takes upon himself the responsibility of editing a newspaper, it would seem very businesslike if he would pursue the same business plan as that adopted by the gardener—use the space to the very best advantage. Garden space, floor space and newspaper space are all alike in as much as they all have a value. The man who owns a flat places a value on the space contained in the rooms in the flat, and he will not rent rooms unless he is assured that he will receive a remuneration for the space used.

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION

SAN FRANCISCO, August 7.—The state railroad commission is holding its hearing to-day on the petition of the United Railways of San Francisco for an order directing the San Francisco Municipal Railways to maintain all crossings where United and Municipal tracks cross. The United railroads holds that it should be free from this expense as it was operating and maintaining its service long before the municipal line was built.

ABSENCE STIMULATES APPRECIATION

Like many of the other fine things of life, the beauty of tact is sometimes made apparent through its absence. For instance, a prominent man was to be the principal speaker at a big dinner. The presiding officer at his side said, over the coffee: "Shall we let the people enjoy themselves a little longer, or had we better have your speech now?"

ters in the Intermediate School will not be available very much longer; and besides we need a more convenient place where work can go on every day and all day.

Miss Maybelle Douglas was appointed Chairman of Ambulance Pilgrimage and Red Cross Rosies. Heretofore it has not had an official place on the Executive Committee. We do not believe her new position will enable her to do one bit more work. According to the Secretary she is the "hardest worker we have."

The boys of the Round Table-Reading Circle who study under Mrs. Frank W. Chambers, brought a big bunch of tin foil for Mrs. Duffield's Committee. These boys are a live bunch and are helping out in several ways. Several of them are saving up their nickels so as to be able to join the Red Cross. Good for you, boys. We hope the example will be contagious.

There were other matters which were discussed which are not referred to for lack of space. The Executive Committee is executing a lot of useful, hard work as anyone who should attend a Monday night meeting would quickly find out.

In the absence of the Chairman of Publicity, Mr. Walt LeNoir Church, Dr. Harrower was asked to report the doings at the meeting.

LIBRARY NOTES

Miss Alice Frank related two most charming fairy stories to the children who assembled at the story hour in the public library, Tuesday morning. The interesting manner in which the stories were told held the almost breathless attention of the little folks assembled for a space of forty minutes. The regular library staff were in attendance to aid the children in selection of books and in the use of the library. The students of the training class also were present to assist with the little ones.

Miss Marion Carmichael has entered the training class at the public library with the view of doing substitute work.

Miss Marguerite Stauffacher, 421 Orange Grove avenue, has entered the training class at the library in order to prepare to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Miss Fern Porter.

Miss Laura E. Roberts, assistant librarian is taking a two weeks vacation. Miss Roberts will spend ten days at Hermosa Beach and then will visit in Riverside, her former home.

BRILLIANT EUROPEAN EDUCATION

Mrs. Nanno Woods, who is forming an adult class in French as a means of raising money for the Red Cross and British Ambulance, comes of a long line of distinguished Irish scholars. One uncle, in youth a doctor, became a well known divine and marrying the daughter of Sir Richard Ewart of Belfast, devoted his splendid abilities to the North of Ireland. Another uncle was for many years professor of Hebrew in Trinity College, Dublin. The grandfather was for over forty years one of the best beloved of Dublin physicians.

Mrs. Woods' mother, Mrs. J. F. Keatinge, who spent a winter in Glendale some four years ago, was the first woman to win the French Scholarship of Ireland, and was one of the first seven women to enroll as students in the first college for women opened in Ireland by Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra. Mrs. Keatinge was known as a brilliant French scholar, having been educated at Neuchatel on the French borders of Switzerland.

Mrs. Woods received her French education first from her mother, then in French Switzerland and France. She also spent a couple of years in Germany, studying languages and music. Returning to Dublin, she won first prize for French in an examination conducted by the London paper "Answers," in open competition with residents of England, Ireland and Scotland. Mrs. Woods also studied for several years in the Royal Irish Academy of Music, winning distinguished honors in harmony, musical history, modulation and counterpoint.

California and Europe are thousands of miles apart. Mrs. Woods has spent just ten years in California. She has done each day's work as it came, and has never stopped to pour out stories of the scholastic atmosphere in which she was born and bred. She has not boasted about her brilliant European education, nor of her linguistic abilities. But she thinks it well, in view of her offer to raise money for the Red Cross by teaching French, to make the Glendale public aware of her scholastic career.

"FIRST PRIZE"

That applies to a great many things in fruits, vegetables, grasses, etc., etc.

But the latest is an "Italian Cucumber," 27 1-2 inches long, by 11 1-2 inches in circumference. It was raised by Charles Gausert, owner of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce building, and is on exhibition in the Chamber of Commerce window, 1010 West Broadway.

Can any one beat it?

In the same Chamber of Commerce window are the huge tusks and the lower maxillary of a very interesting "gentleman from India" who some years ago departed this life. He was also an "Arkansas Traveler" for he and his tribe roamed over a broad range of territory and usually rivalled the Kaiser in destroying what ever opposed him, and in generally having his own whimsical way. He was known far and wide as "A. Razor-Back Hog." This slashing relic of his pig-ship was loaned to the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. R. D. Goss, 708 West Fifth street, Glendale—a noted collector of curios who has two cases full in the Chamber of Commerce. Come in to see them.

BABY BEEF WINNER

Raymond Champion, who lives on a ranch in Brown County, Texas, three years ago bought a calf. This was his first venture, and was bought with money saved at a sacrifice. This calf won a prize at the County Fair in 1914, and Raymond cleared eighty four dollars on that calf. The next year he bought five calves for two hundred dollars. These he fed and cared for, and they brought him a net profit of four hundred and sixty two dollars.

After his father's death he took charge of his mother's farm. During the winter of 1915 he attended school in Bangs, three miles away, and he fed thirty head of cattle. This year he will finish high school. After that he expects to enter Texas Agricultural college, where he will take courses in animal husbandry and stock farming.

QUEER POCKETS

Do you know what out-door creatures have pockets? The squirrels do not carry nuts between their teeth, but have pockets in their cheeks. Did you ever see them fill these pockets with nuts? They empty them by pressing with their paws against the bottom of them and opening their mouths.

The kangaroo has a pocket of fur, in which she carries—what do you think? Her baby! For baby kangaroos cannot leap as fast as their mothers, and need to be carried if they are to keep up.

The opossum, too, has a fur pocket big enough to hold several babies, which she tucks in when she goes traveling.—Our Dumb Animals.

A man is foolish to waste time criticizing his own faults. His friends will do it quickly enough.

Some men grow and others swell. —Hello.

The Scripture says the nations are as a drop of a bucket, compared with the immense universe. The great ocean of life is on worlds that have never sinned. Planet after planet is inhabited by millions of intelligent beings, but among them all, man alone has come under the domination of sin.

"God has so arranged it that sin must come to an end. Christ was manifested to put away sin, by the sacrifice of himself. I know many people think man has an immortal, never-dying propensity, and that he never can cease to exist in wickedness. We are told that there is no such thing as death, that the immortal soul lives on and on, when what we call death takes place. This belief is based upon Satan's lie in Eden, when he told Eve, 'Ye shall not surely die.'

"The Bible plainly shows that the dead are unconscious. 'For the living know that they shall die,' we read in Ecclesiastes 9:5,6, 'but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward; for the memory of them is forgotten. Also their love, and their hatred, and their envy, is now perished; neither have they any more a portion for ever in any thing that is done under the sun.'

Which is Gloomy

"When some of us teach the unconsciousness of the dead, people say, 'O, that is such a gloomy doctrine.' But suppose the people who die are conscious, and the righteous are in heaven; where are the rest of the folks who have died? We read in the Bible that the righteous are few compared with the wicked. 'Narrow is the way that leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it,' said Jesus. If the righteous are in heaven, then the wicked are in hell torment. Is there anything very charming about having the greater part of the human family in hell fire?

"My friends, the doctrine of eternal torment in hell-fire has made more infidels than Ingersoll ever did. It nearly made an infidel out of me. It is a mistake to suppose God is such a tyrant. The doctrine of everlasting torment is not in the Bible. No such blot as an eternally burning hell, where myriads of the lost blaspheme God through all ages, will exist to mar the beautiful creation of God, and it does not exist now except in the minds of those who are blinded to the real truths of the Bible. Second Peter 2:9 says, 'The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished.'

"What, then, will become of the wicked? They will be brought to life at the second resurrection. Revelation 20:9 says they 'went up on the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city; and fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them.' They will be burned up, root and branch—Satan the root, and his followers the branches. In the last chapter of the Old Testament we read that 'the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble; and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.'

"The same text goes on to say that the wicked will be reduced to ashes, and that the righteous will walk over the place where they have been. The fire will be everlasting in its effects, but it will not burn forever. When God blots out all the rebels against His government, it is the best thing he can do. He made the earth to be inhabited, not by a race of rebels against his rule, but by a loyal people, who will praise and glorify Him."

THE PROMPT WAY

WHERE HE LEARNED

Where the carefully trained child learns bad manners is a standing mystery to its watchful parents. These anxious rearers of the young are often heard propounding this query, but generally without results. Once in a while, however, out of the deep silence comes an illuminating answer.

Johnny furnished one just the other day. He had just finished a particularly toothsome dish of apple pudding, which he ate to the last morsel. Then, despite the fact that there was company at the table, he deliberately picked up his saucer and licked it clean.

"Johnny!" exclaimed his mother, after a horrified gasp, "who did you ever see do a thing like that?" "Cats," replied Johnny.

The key is never to blame for a rusty lock.

After all, what are shadows? The grass of June laughs at the storms of December.

THEY TRAVELED BY RAIL

Not long ago an article in the Technical World Magazine told of the unpopularity of the caterpillar in the lumber regions of northern California. They were so overrun with the little torments recently, that life was miserable for the loggers. They even interfered seriously with railroad traffic, until a clever plan to check them was originated by a railroad man. Thousands of the little creatures were crushed by the wheels of the logging trains, rendering the track so slippery that it was impossible to secure traction, and not only was traffic impeded, but it became a very dangerous matter to run trains over the slippery tracks.

The steel rails were selected as a particularly convenient thoroughfare for the insects, and the methods used to clear them had been quite ineffective. Men with brooms were stationed in front of the engines and endeavored to sweep the caterpillars away. This resulted in crushing so many of the soft bodies that it did no good. Finally tubes conveyed live steam and directed it forcibly upon the tracks, and the caterpillars were thrown out of the way.—Exchange.

LACE, LACE, LACE

Through bullets and billets
First hold our attention
Still frocks, frills and flets
Come in for a mention.

This isn't an admonition to pull your corset strings unduly. It is simply a general description of the most paramount detail of feminine fixings at the present moment. Lace these days means only one kind of lace, too, and that's flet.

You know it's the kind with the square mesh like a modified Page fence. It's all on the square anyway and has floral designs spreading over it like vines on a trellis or else animals cavorting over its cross bars like the June bugs and bird size mosquitoes on our screened front porch.

The real honest-to-goodness flet is of course the handmade kind, to acquire whose square meshed lengths enmeshes you in debt to great lengths.

Dainty edging of the hand-made flet finishes collars and cuffs of the most exquisite lingerie waists as well as the lingerie frocks of Georgette, organdie or handkerchief linen and elaborate insets and insertion, narrow or wide, garnish them to their fill with flet.

Boudoir caps of the coarser meshed imitation flet are most attractive and one made from a yard length of very wide all over flet edging is simple and seductive. The lace is seamed together and gathered at the apex. It has a crush of wide satin ribbon holding it in closely around the headsize. The ribbon is set on about two inches above the lace edge which is left to flop softly around the face. The cap of cross-bar mesh is guaranteed to screen effectually a multitude of hair curlers.

Cuff and collar sets of real or imitation flet have all the fairest femines around the throat and waists. Indeed a collar of any other lace save flet is spurned with great vehemence.

Handkerchiefs of the mode and the moment are bordered with the finest and narrowest flet edge and veils though naturally not of the linen thread ape the flet lace in motive and mesh.

Though on the surface of things you would imagine all the flet was in full view judging from its prevalence there is also a great abundance under cover or at least partially so. It is most popular for lingerie garnishing and edges and trims wash satin, muslin, crepe de chine or Georgette chemises, nighties, petticoats and undervests in impartial perfection.

That essential garment known mysteriously in Paris as a "cache corset" and equally mysteriously in London as a "camisole" we designate more sordidly and frankly as a corset cover or an under bodice and by any name known it is to be most lovely when made of all-over flet lace and strung with shell pink satin ribbon.

Flet has even invaded the hearth and home as well as our personal apparel appurtenances not only is it omnipresent richly encrusting table linen, lunch cloths, dinner cloths, luncheon sets and napkins but it has the guest towels, the face towels and even the bath towels in its meshes.

Flet crochet done in insertion and edging is used for towel trimming and crochet flet squares showing an initial or a monogram are set in with stunning results. All the feminine hands not busily wielding knitting needles of amber or bone or socks and sweaters for sailors and soldiers are busily chauffeuring bone or steel crochet hooks through the mazes of flet mesh for bathroom embellishment.

Bed spreads of the flet lace squares in conjunction with embroidered ones have always been the last word in bedspread perfection as have curtain and dresser and toilet—table scarfs and lingerie pillow tops. Some brave and undaunted souls are even turning out beautiful bedspreads of flet crochet. You can do the same if you don't care what you do and aren't a subscriber to the popular opinion that life is short and time is fleeting.

GETTING ALONG

"Does your office girl seem to catch on as a boy would?" says the Kansas City Journal.

"Practically, yes. She doesn't smoke cigarettes, but she has become interested in baseball and learned to whistle."—Exchange.

THE SCHOLASTIC TEST

"How did your daughter pass her examination?" asked one mother of another. "Pass!" was the answer. "She didn't pass at all. Perhaps you wouldn't believe it, but they asked that girl about things that happened long before she was born!"—Boston American.

WHAT THE FAMOUS CIRCLE OF ULLOA IS

The wonderful Circle of Ulloa is a white rainbow which is to be seen in its full beauty in the high regions of the Alps. It appears opposite to the sun and only when the weather is extremely foggy. It has long been an object of admiration and is eagerly looked for by travelers.—Selected.

SOME LESSONS FROM THE WAR

The American Journal of Public Health publishes an article on sanitation and hygiene in the war zone, written by Mr. Saville from English and French publications. The following methods and other facts are taken from this article:

For dry antiseptics the French use chloride of lime (as a deodorant), ferric sulphate (to prevent fermentation), and quicklime (to destroy organic matters). Formalin solutions are used as body disinfectants. For field use the only disinfectants used are as follows:

Chloride of lime. Put three ounces in a quart of water; then dilute to 10 quarts. Corrosive sublimate. One part to 1000; 30 grains of sea salt to the quart of solution adds to the efficiency.

The care of the feet is of first importance. Each regiment has at least one expert chiropodist. For corns daily painting with a solution of 60 grains of salicylic acid, eight grains of cannabis indica extract, and one ounce of flexible collodion is done. After a few days of this the corn is ready to be removed.

All blisters on the feet are pricked at the end of the day and painted with tincture of iodine.

Boots large enough to permit the wearing of two pairs of socks are worn. The pair of socks next to the skin are woolen.

Boots are oiled twice a day inside and out with castor oil or olive oil. Socks must be clean each morning. If fresh socks cannot be had each day the used pair must be turned inside out and aired.

The British allow one quart of water for each 7 1-2 miles marched when the infantry is on the road. Men on the march are allowed one gallon of water a day for drinking purposes; in camp at least three pints. The water allowances for all purposes when men are in barracks is 20 gallons.

The simplest method of sterilizing water is by cooking it into a weak tea. Sterilization of water by chemicals has been very satisfactory.

THE STRANGER

By Jane McLean

Last week I played with Summer—how we played!

Out in the country, where the air is sweet,
I found her but a young and beautiful maid
With azure eyes and swaying dimpled feet.

How fleet she was, for when we ran a race

Down wooded paths where scented blossoms stray

She flew ahead, and turned a laughing face

To mock my lagging steps along the way.

But here, where heavy buildings rear and frown,

And little children gasp for breath and die,

And Misery walks stark about the town,

I cannot help but stop and wonder why.

Where is the laughing child who won my heart,

Who plied her wares that I might buy and feast?

I do not know this thing that walks apart

Tramping the city like a jungle beast.

—Boston American.

COLLECTION OF OLD NEWS-PAPERS THRIVING BUSINESS

On account of the shortage of paper, old newspapers and other waste paper have risen to an important place in the commercial world. Today the man who throws down his paper in the cars after he has finished reading it is regarded as somewhat of a spendthrift. On the Pennsylvania railroad, for instance, waste papers are now carefully collected. Ten thousand bags have been distributed to stations, workshops and offices of the railroad to facilitate the collection, and a baling machine has been installed by the company, which bales 1500 tons of old papers annually. This waste paper is sold for fifteen dollars per ton, to that about $22,500 is realized by the company in this way. In New York city, a social workers club is paying one cent to the children of the poor, for every pound of old paper they bring to the club headquarters.

ROLLED STEAK WITH DRESSING

Make a stuffing of one quart of grated bread crumbs, one very small onion finely chopped, one and 1-2 cupfuls boiling water, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful powdered sage. Sear one pound shoulder cold steak in a hot frying pan. Then remove and form into a roll with above dressing in center. Tie in shape or skewer carefully. Put steak in baking dish and pour over it the following sauce and bake for two or three hours. To the fat in the frying pan in which steak was seared add 3 teabspoonfuls flour and blend well. Brown and add two cupfuls boiling water and stir until thick. More water may be needed from time to time. Baste frequently and turn occasionally.

Some fellows read sacred history to find flaws. But think of a farmer climbing a laden tree only to hunt for rotten apples.—The Earth.

POULTRY POINTERS

Do not allow ducklings and goslings to swim, for that checks their growth.

A late-hatched chick well grown is more profitable than an early chick that has been neglected.

Never allow growing chicks to occupy the same yards or to run with the matured fowls, but keep the youngsters separate on clean ground.

Much of the profit in poultry raising depends on whether the chicks grow rapidly and uniformly, and that means whether they have the right kind of care and feed.

There is no economy in feeding entirely on one grain, or even two grains, because better results can be obtained for less money if a variety is furnished the fowls and chicks.

Although young geese will sometimes pick up enough food to keep from starving, they will not make enough growth to be profitable unless fed liberally when young and given enough feed to make up, with what they get on the range, a full ration.

Clean ground, where other chicks or fowls have not been during the season, is necessary for the best results with little chicks, especially the late-hatched ones, because ground which has been used by others is likely to be more or less foul and may contain disease germs.

Be sure that ducklings and goslings are given water in dishes, fountains or troughs large enough so that the most of the flock can drink at one time during meals, and so arranged that each can get its head into the water up to its eyes but cannot tip the dish over or get its feet into the water.

TOO MANY VARIETIES OF FOOD AT ONE MEAL

Food conservation is quite as important as food production. People of this country can profit by the experience of European nations at war, and at the same time effect a great saving in their living expenses. European peoples started conserving food when they were forced to do so, but the people of this country can avert the necessity by beginning now. These are the conclusions of food experts.

Miss Bab Bell of the Missouri College of Agriculture is of the opinion that most women serve too many foods at a meal. "A meal may be well-balanced and appetizing, and still be subject to reduction without loss to body needs," said Miss Bell. "By cutting down the number of foods served the cost of meals can be materially decreased. Furthermore, there is no necessity for folks to eat more than they need. By doing without the excess which is usually consumed, we can make available just that much more food for future needs."

Miss Bell cited the following meal as typical: "Clear soup, macaroni and cheese, lettuce and beet salad, apple sauce, bread and butter, cream pie." This meal will be just as well balanced and much more economical if it is simplified thus: Macaroni and cheese, lettuce salad, bread and butter, apple sauce.

"In like manner," she concluded, "in planning meals, see first that the necessary classes of food are represented and then see how few dishes may be served, rather than how many."

FIRST BOOK PRINTED IN NEW MEXICO IS FOUND

SANTA FE, N. M.—A small duodecimo volume of a hundred pages, printed in Spanish and bound in leather, is one of the most precious finds made by Historian Benjamin M. Read lately. It is one of the earliest volumes printed in New Mexico. The contents are the analytical lectures on the Spanish language and grammar, delivered by Parde Antonio Jose Martinez before his class of grammar students in the college conducted by Father Martinez at Taos, in 1835, and printed in the printing office of Father Martinez the same year.

The book is in five chapters with ample notes, citations and footnotes in addition to quotations from the Spanish classics. The title page and the first 33 pages of the text are missing in Mr. Read's volume, which is priceless nevertheless, as it appears to be the only copy extant.

INTERNATIONAL HYMN

(Tune, America)

Two Empires by the sea,
Two Nations great and free,
One anthem raise.
One race of ancient fame,
One tongue, one faith, we claim,
One God, whose glorious name
We love and praise.

What deeds our fathers wrought,
What battles we have fought,
Let fame record.
Now, vengeful passion, cease!
Come, victories of peace!
Nor hate, nor pride's caprice
Unsheathes the sword.

Now, may the God above
Guard the dear lands we love,
Or East, or West;
Let love more fervent glow,
As peaceful ages go,
And strength yet stronger grow,
Blessing and Blest.

—Prof. George Huntington.

GENERAL WAR SUMMARY

Three years ago a double murder in Sarajevo spilt a blot of blood on Europe that has since that time spread to engulf in its red flood seven-eighths of all the world.

The civilized nations which remain neutral in all the world strife may now be counted on the fingers and toes. From the Balkans the war-flames spread to nearly all of Europe; then to the Orient; to Asia—and finally to the American hemisphere. Today not a continent of the world exists that does not hold a nation either at war or not on speaking terms with some other nation.

America on April 6 threw all the weight of her titanic resources in wealth, raw materials and men on the scales to swing the balance toward Democracy and against German autocracy and brutality. Her action hastened the new democracy in Russia, revived France's exhausted warriors, and stimulated England's weary soldiers and workmen. Moreover, America's entrance resulted in enunciation of the first clear-cut issue of the war—that the Allies are fighting for Democracy and will not cease until that Democracy is achieved and the Democracy of the rest of the world forever made safe.

The year past saw many notable changes in the war. Two monarchs, the last but one of all the absolutists, Divine Right sovereigns, were swept into oblivion.

A new nation appeared after the most bloodless revolution in history. Germany reached the climax of her terrorism and brutality in inauguration of unbridled submarine warfare on the seas, and of slavery of the Belgian civil population. It was this arrogance of supposed might that brought Germany and her allies such powerful enemies as the United States, Brazil, Cuba, China, Panama, Bolivia, Guatemala, Liberia, Honduras, Nicaragua, San Domingo, Siam.

In one year likewise Germany has been forced to chronicle her first retreat since the Marne. It was a matter of "strategy" according to her military chiefs, but it released thousands of acres of desolated, blackened land to France, and when the Allies struck in following the "strategic retreat" the enemy yielded still more.

It was a year in which twice every power of the German war machine was twice concentrated—and unavailingly. Verdun survived despite all Germany could do. So did the Chemin des Dames. France bore both these shocks. The year has likewise witnessed practical abandonments of one of the weapons which three years ago Germany boasted would win her the war—the Zeppelin dirigible. In her "baby killing" expeditions over England now, Germany uses aeroplanes. The Zeppelins proved too unwieldy.

In the year just past, hunger was enlisted as a war weapon by both sides. It was to "starve England out" that Germany invoked the submarine, piracy. It was to draw closer the blockade around the Central Powers that America soon after her entrance into the strife, adopted stringent plans to prevent her food-stuffs reaching the enemy. In the year to come it will be America whose horde of money will be poured into the war machine, and American ingenuity on which the Democracies of the world will rely for solution of the submarine problem. America's vast industrial machine will be expected to produce vast quantities of munitions, of aeroplanes, of guns.

And America's rich lands will be relied upon to furnish the food which in large part will feed her allies. America has already begun her titanic task. Some of her soldiers are in France. At home, the nation has started raising her selective draft army. Her greatest business men, inventors and manufacturers have lent aid. The farmers have responded.

The plain people have contributed $2,000,000,000 to a "Liberty Loan." America's effect in the war is not expected by experts to be fully apparent until next spring. Every preparation being made by the United States is based on three years more of war. Meanwhile Germany is steadily sinking the world's supply of ships. Her estimate is that since Feb. 1st nearly 5,000,000 tons have been sunk. England's estimate is 600,000 tons. It is on this submarine menace that the Democracies of the world will first concentrate.

THE WAR NURSE

Her struggle is not for glory or fame,
To carve with the heroes, a long-living name;
But rather to give of the best of her store,
To lessen the tortures and miseries more.

—Eunah Taylor.

In the daily routine of life you ask of those with whom you come in contact both honesty and fairness of treatment.

More so, than ever, do you need such help during the sorrows of bereavement. Then, as at no other time, you ask and have a right to expect conscientious service—the kind "you" yourself would give were you able to do so.

You ask and expect an impressive service, free of needless expense, yet fitting the occasion.

In using Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. service either in our mortuary, at the church or in your own home, you will find all these requirements met—quietly, restfully and in good taste.

SOLDIERS ENJOY SONGS OF WAR

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Under the direction of a singing master assigned to the camp by the United States government, community singing has been introduced at Ft. Oglethorpe. War songs of all nations are being taught the soldiers there, and the voices are accompanied by the regimental bands. One of the most popular songs yet introduced, and which has proven a great success in England, has a chorus as follows: "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag

And smile, smile, smile!
While you've a lucifer to light your fag,

Smile, boys, that's the style!
What's the use of worrying? It never was worth while—

So pack up your troubles in your old kit bag,
And smile, smile, smile!

A SAMPLE OF THE VANITY OF BURMESE

The Burmese have a custom which causes a smile among Europeans, for when a native grows rich he is, as it were, forced to acquire merit. To do this he builds a pagoda, and on a tablet set in the structure he has carved the cost of the structure for all worshippers to read.—Selected.
